

I am vehemently opposed to relaxing restrictions on the number of channels a broadcaster may own. There is already limited access to alternative points of view in our media. If there is a change, it should be to increase restrictions. Censorship by Clear Channel is only one example of the potential abuses of too much power in media.